Missouri Forest Products Association Offers Professional Timber Harvester Classes:

Missouri's professional loggers are a vital part of the forest products industry. Their complex business concerns include productivity, safety, and environmental issues. Decisions they make today will have an impact for many decades to come. Professional loggers share the responsibility with landowners and foresters to help ensure Missouri's renewable forests can be sustained for this century and beyond.

The Professional Timber Harvester Program is designed to educate the logger, skidder, forester, forest contractor, and landowner in sustaining the forest resources. Instructor Joe Glenn demonstrates proper cutting and safety techniques for Levels I through IV. Joe has been the Association's instructor for several years and trained under Soren Eriksson. The Professional Timber Harvester Program will help accomplish goals today without sacrificing the benefits of tomorrow.

For more information or a schedule of offered courses, contact Glenda at (573) 634-3252 or register on-line @ www.moforest.org/education/timberharvester.htm
