Missouri Forest Products Association swears in new President

Lynn Gastineau, founder and president of Gastineau Log Homes, Inc., was recently sworn in as president of Missouri Forest Products Association. Located in New Bloomfield, MO, Gastineau Log Homes specializes in the manufacture of oak log homes.

Lynn Gastineau has previously served as the President of the Central Missouri Builders Association, served on the board and as President of the Log Homes Council, President of the Building Systems Council, and the Executive Advisory Board to the President of the National Association of Home Builders. Currently she serves on the Board of Directors of the Building Systems Council and Chairman of the Education Committee for the Log Home Council. In 1996, Lynn received the coveted "S.A. Walters Award" from the Building Systems Council. Lynn is the only female to ever receive this award honoring a lifetime of achievement and service to the industry. Lynn is also listed in "Who's Who in Female Executives" in the United States. On October 1, 2007 Gastineau Log Homes will celebrate 30 years in business. Gastineau Log Homes has sold homes in all 50 states and 10 foreign countries. Visit their website www.oakloghome.com

Missouri Forest Products Association is a statewide association providing a collective voice for Missouri's forest products industry. Missouri's 14 million acres of forested land supports a timber-based economy of 4.5 billion dollars. MFPA is committed to education, conservation, the wise use of natural resources, and promoting closer working relationships among the forest products industry.
